Northwest Michigan Fair Scheduled For Aug. 30-Sept. 4

The 61st annual Northwestern Michigan Fair opened for a six day stand at the fairgrounds in Traverse City on Monday.

Monday was Entry Day, and in a departure from earlier fairs, all displays and exhibition buildings will be open on the first day of the fair. Because of this, the regular gate admission charge will be in effect on Monday starting at 6 p.m. High lighting the opening day of the fair will be two performances of the Hurricane Hill Drivers Thrill Show at the grandstand. Show times will be 7 and 9 p.m. The precision driving team will return with two more performances on Tuesday night.

Judging of entries and exhibits will take place starting on Tuesday, with ribbons and premiums awarded to the winners.

Wednesday is Kid's Day, with free prizes and reduced prices on the midway for children up to 14 years old. Quacky The Duck will be on hand to entertain both the young and the old. Wednesday night will feature the first of three harness racing programs. The Michigan Colt Stakes will be held, with 16 thousand dollars in purses going up for grabs. An exceptional list of entries for the Colt Stakes assures an evening of excitement for racing fans.

Senior Citizen's Day will be observed on Thursday. Program features include the lightweight horsepulling contest at 2 p.m. in front of the grandstand. The beefstock parade will also be held in the afternoon and another night of harness racing will top the day's activities.

Friday will be designated as Farm Bureau Day. Highlighting the afternoon activities will be the State Champion Heavyweight Horsepulling Contest. This test of strength and teamwork is set for 2 p.m. at the grandstand. The final harness racing events of the 1971 fair will be held in the evening.

Saturday, the final day of the fair, will feature the National Heavyweight Pony Pulling Contest. The ponies must be between 46 inches and 50 inches to be eligible. The last event of the fair will be the Demolition Derby at the grandstand. In this zany evening, many local area people with plenty of nerve will stage deliberate crashes while competing for cash and trophies. Everyone attending the fair this year will have a chance to win one of the six color TV sets

Special State Police Patrol For Labor Day Weekend

Expecting high volume traffic in Michigan during the Labor Day weekend, the last of the major summer holidays, the State Police will give special patrol attention to roads and highways during hours of heaviest travel, said Col. John R. Plants, department director.

Noting that the state's traffic toll so far this year is only slightly below that of the comparable period in 1970, Plants appealed to all motorists to use good judgment in holiday driving situations to help reduce risks of accidents.

Plants said Labor Day accidents last year killed 26 persons. He pointed out that this

A 102-unit Holiday Inn will be built in Grayling, on I-75 Business Loop South, two miles from downtown. Tentative plans for construction are scheduled to start Sept. 1, and expect to be open by April 1-15, 1972.

Grayling Inns, Inc. will operate the inn under a franchise agreement with Holiday Inns, Inc., of Memphis, Tenn. The corporation is comprised of Ron Fraser and Lynwood Lamb, franchise holders, of Bay City, Motel Development and Management Service of Memphis, Tenn., are developing the motel.

The Holiday Inn will have approximately 52 employees with an annual payroll of $250,000. The Inn will have a restaurant seating capacity of 108, meeting rooms to 150 and a lounge with live entertainment with a seating capacity of 102.

The Grayling Inn will have the following Holiday Inn features: a swimming pool, air conditioning, wall-to-wall carpeting, color television in every room, a 24-hour switchboard and free dog kennels.

Other popular features will include free advance reservations at any other Holiday Inn by Holidex, a computerized reservation system, and a no-charge policy for children under 12 using the same facilities as their parents.

The first Holiday Inn was built in Memphis in 1952 by Kesmons Wilson. Within the next year he built three additional Inns and joined forces with Wallace E. Johnson to form Holiday Inns of America, Inc. Their goal was a national system of Holiday Inns, offering consistent accommodations at reasonable prices.

Today there are more than 1,350 Holiday Inns throughout the world. There are currently 46 Inns operating in Michigan.

John Deckrow is still a patient at the VA Hospital in Saginaw and expects to be there for a couple more weeks yet.

Youth Social Worker Here

The Rev. Miss Pam Adams started working for Michelson Memorial Church effective August 18th. Her coming was made possible by the generous giving of over 16 families and companies who saw the need and gave to make it possible. Rev. Paul Frederick announced this week.

Many people are not aware that M. M. Church, while affiliated with the United Methodist Church, is in fact the result of a merger of the Grayling Presbyterian and Methodist Churches over 30 years ago. It is not at all unusual then that Miss Adams is a former United Presbyterian joining the Methodist Church just one year ago, Rev. Frederick added.

She is a graduate of Douglass College, Women's Division of Rutgers, the New Jersey State University. Majoring in French and English Literature, P. M. graduated with a B.A. degree in 1968. She then went on for a year's work at New York Theological Seminary (United Presbyterian) and finally graduating from Asbury Theological Seminary in Kentucky with a Master in Divinity degree.

The citizens of Crawford County should be refreshingly amazed at the versatility of Miss Adams who has studied seven foreign languages, worked for a year as a Youth Director in a New Jersey Church, plays and teaches guitar, sang for two years in a Gospel Folk Rock Group, and whose favorite phrase is: "Well, the Lord told me . . .". Rev. Frederick remarked.

Her hobbies include working with cut, stained glass, sewing and skunking; and now that she is in Bear Country, she wants to learn how to twang with the bow and arrow.

If you have not met her yet, she is the pert blond, with the contagious smile, who runs the church office four mornings a week. Stop by and get acquainted.

By the way, Miss Adams is looking for housing during the Winter months. If you are going South for the Winter, you might contact her about house-sitting your place this year.

Gen-Tel Phone Directories Out

One of the most widely used publications in the United States — the telephone directory — is now being delivered to General Telephone customers in Grayling. Al Murphy, district manager for the company, said although there are no major format changes in the new directory, he suggests customers familiarize themselves with the location of important information within the directory.

The alphabetical index and table of contents for the directory appears on the inside front cover and the list for frequently called numbers appears on the inside back cover. A localized exchange area map, printed in conjunction with the Continental U. S. Area Code Map, also appears again in the directory.

"Places for you to write in emergency numbers are conveniently located on a page one," Murphy pointed out. "We want the location of these numbers readily available and easy to find."

White chrysanthemums and pink roses decorated the altar of the First United Methodist Church on Saturday, August 14, at 5:00 p.m. as Rev. Raymond Roe performed the double ring, candle light ceremony uniting Phyllis L. Smashey of Gaylord and Penn Holden Welch. Miss Smashey is the daughter of Mrs. Lillis Smashey of Gaylord. Mr. Welch is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Welch of Grayling.

The bride was given in marriage by her grandfather, Mr. William H. Currie of Atlanta, Mich. A bouffant gown of sheer organza over taffeta was the bride's choice for her wedding. Chantilly lace outlined the Sabrina neckline, camelot sleeves and chapel train. A multiple looped bow of lace secured her cathedral length veil edged in matching lace. She carried a solid cascade of pink roses.

Her maid of honor was Miss Sherry Currie of Pittsburg, Pa., a cousin of the bride. She wore a floor length gown of pink dotted swiss over taffeta with a high neckline and bishop sleeves, accented with white lace and a pink ribbon at the waist. She wore a matching pink picture hat and she carried a basket of pink roses and white carnations.

The bridesmaids were Miss Roxie Gatewood, Miss Brenda Walker, both of Gaylord, Miss Lynn Welch of Mt. Pleasant, cousin of the groom, Miss Linda Vendi, and Miss Carol Wagner both of Bloomfield Hills.

The flower girl was Miss Cynthia Cameron of Clio, a cousin of the bride. The bridesmaids and the flower girl wore gowns and hats identical to that of the maid of honor.

Paul King of Grayling, served as best man. The groom's attendants were Stephan Cameron of Clio, a cousin of the bride, Joe Kuheana, from Hawaii.

The guests were entertained before and during dinner by Chan Pollack at the piano. Also Joe Kuheana, from Hawaii, came in honor of the bride and groom and played and sang a selection of Hawaiian songs. After dinner the guests enjoyed dancing.

The bride and groom left on a three weeks wedding trip down the East Coast and South to Miami Beach, Fla.

Phyllis attended Ferris State College for two years, majoring in Cosmetology and was employed at Svends Beauty Shop. Penn is a graduate of Ferris State College and will complete his Doctorate Degree at Wayne State. The young couple will make their home in Bloomfield Hills upon their return from their wedding trip.

Out of state guests attending the wedding were from California, Florida, Ohio, Indiana, New York, Arizona, Hawaii, Pennsylvania, and London, England.

Attend The Church Of Your ChoiceBRIDGES CAN HAPPEN!

Not all bridges are built. When the sea pounds its relentless waves against a wall of rock . . . when the icy crust of a glacier spans a mountain chasm . . . when a giant of the forest falls across a stream . . . bridges simply happen.

Here perhaps is the parable of God's kind of engineering. Seemingly there are no calculations, no blueprints, no construction equipment. But results man can behold with awe and reverence.

Yet some men are so wrapped up in their human projects they simply forget that God accomplishes anything . . . until their errors begin to show . . . their bridges start to crumble. Then they need Someone to stop the collapse.

It makes better sense to work with God in all that we build — and in all that happens. The Church has been man's greatest source of help across the span of centuries.

Your Responsibility

Labor Day, the summer season's last important holiday, is almost here. As with all three-day holidays, one primary consideration will be sheer survival in the press of traffic and other hazards of congestion.

There is another consideration too of which we should be acutely conscious. As individuals, we can each contribute mightily to pollution control during a period when lakes, forests, streams and parks are swamped with visitors. A leaflet, issued by Enterprise Publications of Chicago, offers the following questionnaire for those who are sincerely concerned about pollution. It asks, among other things: When did I last throw an empty can, bottle, cigarette butt, or paper wrapper out of the car window? When did I last throw a cigarette pack, gum or candy wrapper on the street or the floor of a public building? When did I last leave a picnic table without cleaning up? When did I last leave a camp site without picking up all the refuse? When did I last leave a public or private beach without picking up paper, glass, or other sharp objects? When did I last — when no one was looking — drop off garbage or junk by the side of the road — hoping I wouldn't be caught?

How these questions can be answered by those returning from the long Labor Day weekend will be a pretty accurate gauge of public interest in pollution control.

Keep Reality In Mind

A short item from the Houston, Texas, Tribune carries a lot of common sense. It says, "Cleaning up the environment is an excellent cause . . . but the more militant environmentalists can do more harm than good by appealing to people's emotions without possessing the knowledge to back up their zeal. Thus we see the same people denouncing the electric power companies for polluting the air by using fossil fuels in their generating stations, then screaming to high heaven about the shortage of electric power which occurs in their areas at times of peak loads. Similarly, everybody's against over-use of DDT; everybody's concerned over DDT build-up in the bodies of people, mammals, birds and fish where this occurs. But apparently it means nothing to the overzealous crusaders that when the use of DDT was banned in Ceylon, a million cases of malaria resulted."

It took countless thousands of years for man to achieve the intellectual capacity to produce the longevity and comforts of modern life. Now, there are those who wish to wipe out both in a single stroke — if they personally can be excluded from the ensuing cataclysm.

Mr. and Mrs. William Allan Thomson honeymooned in northern Michigan and Florida following their marriage Saturday afternoon, July 24, at St. Mary's Catholic Church.

Rev. Louis Ivandic performed the five o'clock nuptial mass which united the former Miss Linda Maureen Christian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy H. Christian of Grayling and William Allan Thomson, son of Mr. Martin Thomson of Bloomfield Hills and Mrs. Virginia Thomson of Boca Raton, Fla., before a background of pink and white gladioli.

The organist was Mrs. Ralph Hoffman and the altar boys were Robert Hanson and Paul Christian, brother of the bride. A reception followed the ceremony at the Officers Club, Camp Grayling.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory organza over taffeta. Venise lace flowers accented the bodice, skirt and hemline, with long bishop sleeves, ending in a wide buttoned cuff. The empire waist was banded with ivory moire' ribbon, and a chapel length train built into the skirt of the gown. A garden hat secured her chapel length veil. She carried a nosegay of white and yellow tea roses with a sprinkling of ivy and baby breath.

Jacquelyn Christian was maid of honor and Patricia, bridesmaid for her sister. Both wore identical floral pant dresses in hot pink and aqua with lavender. They wore matching picture hats and carried giant mums matching their dresses.

James Swears of Big Rapids served as best man and Dr. Norman Borgerson was groomsman.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Christian wore a beige lace suit with a pink rose corsage.

The bride received a B.S. Degree in Business Education from Ferris State College. The groom is also a graduate of Ferris State College with an Associate Degree in Dental Technology and a B.S. Degree in Political Science from Central Michigan University.

The couple are now residing in Big Rapids.

Tri-Centennial Queen Janice Steiner of St. Ignace extends a cordial invitation to Governor Milliken to attend the "Black Gown Tree," the dramatization of the life of Pere Marquette, and to participate in the Mackinac Bridge Walk on Labor Day weekend. The Governor, clutching the coveted Governor's Glass, engraved with the name, time and date of the governors who have walked across the Mackinac Bridge, accepted the lovely queen's invitation. However, he would not commit himself as to whether he would pleasure walk or speed walk, but promised he would be among the 20,000 persons expected to stroll across Mighty Mac on Labor Day morning.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) More than a month ago I requested that tax be withheld on my pension, but I've noticed no change in the amount of my pension check. Doesn't my old firm have to start withholding immediately?

A) The payer of your pension does not have to begin withholding until three months after you filed your Form W-4P, Annuitant's Request for Federal Income Tax Withholding.

Although withholding is optional on your part, the payer must comply with your request to withhold tax.

Q) I do a lot of traveling on my new job. What kind of records should I keep?

A) Your records should show amounts, dates, destinations and business purpose. A diary or similar record, supported by items such as canceled checks and paid bills, is acceptable if entries are made when the costs are incurred. For more information obtain a copy of IRS Publication 463, Travel, Entertainment and Gift Expenses. It's available free from your local IRS office.

Q) Can I still deduct my stock market losses dollar-for-dollar from my capital gains?

A) Yes, these losses can still be used to offset capital gains. However, if you have a net long-term capital loss, each $1 of the loss can be used to offset only 50¢ of ordinary income. A net short-term capital loss can still be used to reduce ordinary income on a dollar-for-dollar basis. Net capital loss deductions are generally limited to $1,000.

Q) I saw a notice on the bulletin board at work that some people may not have enough tax withheld this year. How do I find out if I'm one of them?

A) Estimate your 1971 tax liability and the amount of tax that will be withheld based on your current withholding. This can be done from tables the IRS has given your employer. If you should find more withholding is needed, you should claim fewer exemptions and, if necessary, have additional dollar amounts withheld. You can do this by filing a new exemption certificate (Form W-4) with your employer.

Q) Is it true that I can claim a credit on the tax I pay on the gas and oil I use for my boat?

A) Yes. When you file your return next year, you may claim a credit of 2¢ per gallon for gasoline and a credit of 6¢ per gallon for lubricating oil. Be sure to keep adequate records to substantiate your credits. When you file your return use Form 4136 to claim the credit. IRS Publication 378, Federal Gas Tax Credit or Refund for Non-highway and Transit Users, may be helpful. Send a postcard to your local IRS office to obtain a copy.

Thought For Food

Nourish those burger-loving breakfast skippers in your home with a basket of burgers before they leave for school. Just broil ground beef or ground lamb patties and peach halves. Serve with buns, whole wheat bread slices or toast.

The United States is the seventh largest producer of wine in the world. Fully 90 percent of the wine consumed in America is domestic.

Couple two favorites, Knack-wurst and Smoked Polish sausages, for an outdoor family supper. Place sausage on grill 3 to 4 inches from heat and broil at moderate temperature 15 to 20 minutes, or until done. Turn frequently with tongs.

For a truly American meal. Broil Porterhouse or sirloin steaks on the grill and bake potatoes and corn-on-the-cob among the coals, prepare a crisp tossed salad and top off the dinner with strawberry shortcake or apple pie.

CONSUMERS' CORNER

Are all double knits made of polyester washable?

No, before buying a garment made of polyester, read the hang-tag or label for recommended care instructions. You may find a variety of cleaning methods listed.

Before tossing everything into the automatic washer and dryer, consider the type of garment and the degree of soil.

Taking time to read labels for recommended care instructions and to evaluate each garment for the amount of soil before deciding on the cleaning method can prolong the life of the garment.

Waiting For Lindsay? Forget It

John Lindsay has now dropped the first shoe.

The personable New York mayor has exited the Republican party, registered in the Democratic party, and thus set more political punditry in motion than any single event since the 1968 New Hampshire primary when Sen. Gene McCarthy knocked Lyndon Johnson out of the White House.

Most political sages now expect Mr. Lindsay to pick an appropriate time to drop the second shoe, and plunge into the race for the Democratic nomination for the presidency.

After all, they reason, why else would he become a Democrat?

Why indeed? But if any of you Almanack readers are holding your breath waiting for the second shoe to drop, don't—or you'll black out from lack of air.

That's my little piece of home-grown, free, unsolicited, amateur punditry for this week: John Lindsay is not going to announce his candidacy for the 1972 Democratic nomination for president. Not next week. Not next month. Not next year. Not ever, so to speak.

Instead, what he has done is to make himself available for 1972—in the unlikely eventuality that the Democrats, in convention assembled next year, are unable to agree on anyone else.

Or, as another possibility, he has made himself available as a ticket-balancing choice for vice president in 1972.

Or, if you would care for a third option, and one with more sanity than either of these first two, he has opened the potential for a 1976 swing at the Democratic nomination—or even 1980 or 1984.

All John Lindsay has to do is stay alive politically to have a fair go at the brass ring sometime in the future and Lindsay has proved himself very adept at political survival so far.

Taking the other side of the coin for a moment, why should Lindsay remain a registered Republican? He served in Congress as a Republican, and then was elected to his first term as mayor of New York on the Republican ticket. But the second time around, the Republican party deserted him, nominating instead someone more in keeping with the accepted image of Republicanism.

Lindsay then confounded both the Republicans and the Democrats by winning re-election as mayor on his own. His political future has been up in the air ever since. In a real sense, Lindsay didn't leave the Republican party; the Republican party dropped Lindsay.

Somewhere along the line, if everything drops into place, we're going to hear more of John Lindsay on the national political scene, as a Democrat. It appears from here that among these pieces which have to fall into place are the re-election of President Nixon in 1972, leaving a natural opening at the top of the Democratic ticket in 1976; plus the failure of any of the present Democratic front-runners—such as Muskie, Bayh, Harris, Jackson, Humphrey, et al—to build a lasting, forceful national political machine.

If those things happen, and if Lindsay survives politically, he'll be in a catbird seat as 1976 rolls around.

Lindsay probably has more charisma (that's a political-science-type word meaning popular political appeal) than all of the present Democratic contenders put together—with the possible exception of Edward Kennedy.

At the 1968 national Republican convention in Miami Beach, for example, Nixon, Rockefeller and Reagan were the front-liners; but it was Lindsay who commanded as much rank-and-file attention around the hotel lobbies and caucus rooms as any of them. Nixon even picked him to nominate that Maryland unknown, Spiro T. Agnew, for vice president, partly to transfer some Lindsay glamour to a somewhat questionable nomination.

Republican party pros have never felt at ease with Lindsay; neither will their Democratic counterparts.

It appears that nobody likes John Lindsay, except the people.

"If It Fitz . . ."

On TV, the news is funny

By Jim Fitzgerald

When I take my kids into strange and wondrous towns, full of beautiful scenery and historic monuments, the first thing they do is run into the motel room and make sure the TV works.

Which, whether I like it or not, broadens my education. On our last trip, through 6 states, I learned that local TV newscasters are the same everywhere. At 6 and 11 o'clock every night they sit around a table and titter, guffaw and giggle at each other. The weatherman always says the sportscaster was drunk last night and the anchor man's assistant always laughs so hard at the boss's jokes he has trouble telling you that 10 children were burned to death that afternoon.

Those fellows sure have fun while they work. It's never that many laughs working on a newspaper. Oh, we chuckle once in awhile. Like when a Scout troop tours the plant and one of the kids falls into a printing press and the other kids fight about who gets to read him first.

But mostly, it's pretty sober back here behind the typewriter keys where the day to day record of life is reported, interpreted, explained and frozen to pages so that future historians may study them and know the who, what, when, why and where of long-ago 1971. (If you wrote crap like that, could you laugh?)

I've been wondering how things might be made more jolly around the newspaper I edit. I called my staff together and told them what I had in mind: "I don't expect you to write funny news. Anyone can do that simply by reporting on the everyday activities of our state legislature. What I want is a crew that can say funny things to each other while writing sad news. I want a reporter who can giggle when he hands the copy boy a list of the 153 people killed in this week's air crash. I want you to be like those newscasters on TV."

"You got drunk last night," my assistant said to the sports editor who happens also to be me. Mine is a small newspaper and I am editor of everything including the restroom walls.

"That's because this is a small newspaper and I man has to do the drinking for a dozen editors," I said. "It's a wonder I get time to work at all."

"Hey, that's pretty funny," my assistant admitted.

"Thanks," I said. "Now you say something funny. I can't do all the work around here."

"Well," he said, "according to this U.S. weather report there is going to be a tornado, a tidal wave and an earthquake in the tiny seaport town of North Ring-a-Ding which means those people will finally have something to do Saturday night except go to town and watch haircuts."

"Now you're getting the idea," I praised him. "Keep slipping in those zingers. But remember to save your greatest knee-slapper till the end of the day, just before we go home. I've noticed that those TV newscasters always leave 'em laughing. The anchor man always delivers the topper and, as the program fades out, everyone is rolling on the floor, laughing fit to cry and yelling at each other about what a great card the anchor man is."

"On a newspaper," my assistant said, "I suppose the editor is the anchor man. Lord knows our editor has enough lead in his butt to anchor the Queen Mary."

"Very funny," I told him with a chuckle. "You're fired." †

Jack Pine's Stump

It would appear, from the response Jack Pine has had, that the column last week about the Michigan Department of Natural Resources' suggestions concerning the regulations of canoes on the AuSable and Manistee rivers was rather well accepted by local people and other readers of this Pillar of Personal Prejudice. After a couple of weeks of thinking about these monumental moments to the dark ages, I have come to the conclusion that the DNR isn't really serious — that what the commissioners really want is to find out what the general public wants. If this is the case, then we jolly well better get to our pens and typewriters and tell them. I really can't seriously believe that these supposedly intelligent men propose such regulations in all seriousness. I think the whole thing is nothing more or less than a trial balloon. Well, lets shoot it down. Now.

Trout Unlimited, a national organization with great goals, has individual chapters which work mightily to achieve a whole lot of self-serving interests. The Michigan Council, a group which represents all of the Michigan Chapters, is generally very much for the DNR proposals, about water use. In fact the council is delighted to have one of their more vocal spokesmen on the DNR board of Commissioners. He's a fine person, I am told, and a reasonable man, but I fear that he speaks for a very small segment of water users. He certainly can't speak for me—a trout fisherman, part-time guide, canoeist and former officer in Trout Unlimited. There ain't no way, buddy. If TU ever hopes to achieve its noble aims — and they are worthwhile on a national basis, then it better not take off on the majority of Michigan water users. They have as much right — and probably more — than most of the fly fishermen who have ever been up here. And I say that as a full fledged-dyed-in-the-wool fly fisherman.

The following appeared in the Fairbanks (Alaska) Daily News Miner and is an excerpt from the Chalkyitsik Village Rules: "Any loose dog can be shot by shotgun only. Any person under the age of fifteen are not allowed to shoot dogs, only adults. There will be no shooting of rabbits after dark."

— JP —

There's something kind of sad about Labor Day weekend. I guess maybe it's the last minute frenzy to enjoy the last bit of summer vacation. Yet summer isn't over for about two and a half weeks. People swim, boat, fish, but spend most the weekend packing up, getting ready for the wretched trip back to the cities or wherever home might be. Those of us who stay here will, of course, still be able to enjoy our resources, but to a lesser extent. School will be starting. And school is discipline. And discipline means the end of the carefree way of living many of us take up in the summer. Men will once again work in neckties — if the job calls for it. Mothers will have to regiment themselves and their households to the eight to three school routine. Homework will bother the kids, heating and light bills will bug the parents, and everyone has to have new clothes. After all the summer expenses, it just doesn't seem fair somehow.

— JP —

But I guess what I'll really miss will be all the tourists and visitors. Most of them are truly fine people who treat our people and our resources with respect. I think they truly appreciate what we have to offer and leave with regret and envy of those of us who live here. They also provide many summer jobs for local people and they spend a whole lot of money up here. No one objects to that. Maybe our better facilities are crowded and we are "inconvenienced" at times, but so what? The rest of the time we often have it all to ourselves. And that isn't all bad. So, Goodbye Good friends. We hope to see you again next summer.

"Court Revamp Studied"

What could be one of the most important assignments in his new spot on the Michigan Supreme Court was handed to former Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

He was named head of a new committee to bring Michigan's Court procedures into the latter part of the 20th century. The technical title is the Court Procedures Technology Committee. It was created by Chief Justice Thomas M. Kavanagh.

Kavanagh has said he wants the committee to report back to him by January so that he can incorporate its findings into his annual report to the legislature.

"The administration of justice in the State of Michigan, as elsewhere throughout our country, is typified by courts that are underfinanced, poorly housed, undermanned and overworked," stated Kavanagh.

"Obsolescent procedures have added to the burden of the courts, already overburdened with an increasing amount of litigation," he said. "What our system needs, in the words of the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice, is a willingness to re-examine old ways of doing things, to reform itself, to experiment."

The committee, in pursuing that goal, will analyze existing court procedures and find out what can be done to give all courts the ability to operate with the most efficient procedures.

The Williams committee will search for new methods, such as state-wide computerization of court cases, new rules, new equipment and personal training to overcome the "old way of doing things."

Among the answers it hopes to provide are more efficient methods of determining attorney availability for trial, assignment of cases, record-keeping, jury availability, processing of estates and maintenance of payments to friends of the court.

Since the worst problem now exists in and around Detroit, the first investigation will be conducted there, Kavanagh said. At the same time, he said, computer studies are already in progress in Genesee, Kalamazoo, and Washtenaw Counties as well as the city of Southfield.

If it seems that you've seen more motorboats than ever in Michigan waters this year, the secretary of state's office says you're right. There are more than ever.

But chances are you'd be wrong if you were asked to name the year in which the second highest number of motorboats were registered in the state.

Give up? It was 1938. Secretary of State Richard Austin says the registrations of motorboats passed the 446,000 mark by the end of June. But the previous high before this year was 437,000 back in 1938.

Nearly 500,000 motorboats will be registered in the state before the summer is out, says Austin. And he has a sneaking suspicion there are already more than 500,000 boats in the state that some owners have been lazy enough, forgetful enough or just unwilling enough to part with the $5 registration fee to license their boats.

"No matter how many times we say it," he says, "there are some boat owners who just don't seem to get the message or choose to ignore it. It's a physical impossibility for sheriff patrols to inspect every boat in all of Michigan's more than 11,000 inland lakes, and scores of rivers, brooks and streams."

"But the owners of those boats that are not registered risk several penalties and unnecessary embarrassment for failure to comply."

"Mink Coats Grown" Along with millions of cars, millions of quarts of cherries, peaches and other fruits, and millions of dollars worth of tourist related items and services produced in Michigan last year, there were 3,000 mink coats "grown" in the state.

Those 3,000 coats came from a total of 110,000 mink which were raised for their fur. It takes an average of 37 mink pelts to make one full-length coat, according to the State Agriculture Department.

And if you're wondering why mink coats cost so much, the department says an efficient mink ranch can produce mink for a cost of about $12 per pelt. That means that before it leaves the backs of those 37 mink, the coat is already worth $444.

The time the mink farmer, the garment industry and the stores cover expenses and profit, the cost grows greatly.

The high price takes toll. The U.S. produced 85 per cent of the world's ranch grown mink 20 years ago. It now produces only 20 per cent.

Policyholder Questions Answered by the Health Insurance Institute, 277 Park Ave., N. Y., N. Y., 10017

Q: My wife's mother needs an operation and her doctor says she will have a long convalescence afterwards. She has Medicare and some private health insurance, but I'm concerned that the costs will still run too high for us to keep her in a hospital for several months. She will need extensive nursing care, but since both my wife and I work, we can't keep her at home. Would her insurance cover the cost of a nursing home?

A: Part A (the non-contributory part) of Medicare covers her in an "extended care facility" after she's been in a hospital for at least three consecutive days. Such facilities provide full-time skilled nursing care and other health services for patients who no longer need intensive hospital care. To get Medicare benefits, she must be admitted to the facility within 14 days after discharge from the hospital. The extended care must be ordered by her physician for further treatment of the same condition for which she was in the hospital. During the first 20 days in the facility, Medicare pays virtually all charges (room, meals, nursing care, drugs, medical supplies, appliances such as wheelchairs and crutches, special therapy and social services) in a semi-private room. For the next 80 days, all of these charges above $65.00 a day are covered.

Also check your mother-in-law's personal insurance. Many policies issued by insurance companies to supplement Medicare include benefits in a nursing home or extended care facility. Later in her convalescence, she may no longer need full-time nursing care, but can get along with part-time care. Her doctor may then let her come home, where Medicare (Part A) would cover the full cost of 100 home visits by nurses, therapists or other health personnel (not including doctors).

Part B (the contributory part) of Medicare helps to pay doctor bills wherever she may receive treatment—in a hospital, his office, an extended care facility, at home, or elsewhere. After a $50 yearly deduction, Medicare pays 80 per cent of the cost of most services by a physician. Her personal insurance may also help to meet doctor bills.

TO HARVEST WEEDS OR NOT IS THE QUESTION

Lake weed harvesting to lower nutrient level will be one topic discussed at the Houghton Lake meeting Friday, August 27.

A meeting has been called to acquaint the public with the study currently being conducted, according to Willard Bosserman, County Extension Director. It will be in the Houghton Lake High School starting at 8:00 p.m. Room 2.

Dr. Spencer Peterson, who did work on weed harvesting in Minnesota will briefly discuss the merits of weed harvest. He will also show some pictures of some really "dead" lakes, Bosserman said.

James Novy, aquatic biologist will give an over all view of the entire study. He will tell the what, why, when and where of the program.

Kenneth Child, ground water geologist, will tell about the conflict of uses of ground water, sewage disposal vs. drinking water.

Benedict-Harris Speak Vows in Illinois

The First Presbyterian Church of Alton, Ill. was the scene of the wedding Saturday, August 21st, of Miss Susan Hunter Harris and William Waite Benedict of Grayling.
Bouquets of white Fuji mums, stock, and snapdragons with greenery decorated the altar for the 11 a.m. ceremony performed by the Rev. Dr. Cortley Burroughs. Baskets of white daisies and ivy marked the pews.
The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hood Harris of 3402 Greenwood Lane, Godfrey, Ill. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Henry Benedict Jr. of Grayling.
After the ceremony, the newlywed couple received their guests at a reception held at the Lockhaven Country Club.

Nuptial music was provided by John Ulfers, soloist, accompanied by Dr. Robert Oldham, organist.
A Bertha collar of imported venise lace accented the bodice of the bride's gown of linen which featured an empire waistline and chapel train attached at the A-line skirt. Her cathedral length mantilla veil of tulle was trimmed in the same lace. The bride's bouquet contained white roses, lilies of the valley, stephanotis, baby's breath and ivy.
Miss Susan Hellebush attended the bride as maid of honor. Miss Sally Harris, sister of the bride, and Miss Barbara Benedict, sister of the groom, were bridesmaids.
Pale pink ribbons outlined the empire waistlines of the attendants' floor length gowns of forest green georgette which were designed with stand-up collars. White venise lace accented the front bodices and arm holes of the gowns. They wore headpieces of fresh flowers identical to their bouquets which were pink roses, lilies of the valley and baby's breath interspersed with ivy.
Attendants for the bridegroom were Edward Olkiewicz as best man; and Kim Butts, and James Benedict, brother of the groom, as groomsmen.
The bride was graduated this year from the University of Illinois and is employed by Cardinal Glennon Hospital in St. Louis, Mo.
Her husband was also graduated from the University of Illinois and will attend Washington University Medical School in September.
After a wedding trip to New Orleans the couple will make their home in St. Louis, Mo.

Frederic Class of '61 Holds Reunion

The 10th reunion of the Frederic Community School class of 1961, was held Saturday, August 21. The gathering place of the group was at the school at 5:30. From there we caravanned to the Chalet in Gaylord where a very nice dinner was enjoyed.
Later Mitch and Susie Thompson were our host and hostess at their home in Maple Forest. Everyone enjoyed a memorable evening of renewing friendships, getting acquainted with spouses and reminiscence of times past.
Out of a class of 20 students, 13 of our fellow classmates were present. We are sorry the other seven were unable to attend but hope to see them at our next reunion.
